Filtronic

Venturing into new orbits

AGM trading update

Tech hardware and equipment

2 November 2026

Filtronic's AGM update highlighted the progress the company has made in diversifying its customer base, strengthening its position in the space market and advancing its technology roadmap. In the update, the company disclosed that it had won its first Ka-band contract to support a US geostationary Earth orbit (GEO) satellite manufacturer. While a small development contract, it highlights the wider opportunity for Filtronic to support satellite customers across all orbits. The strong contracted order book provides significant revenue cover for FY27 and improved visibility into subsequent years, giving the board confidence in meeting market expectations.

Year end	Revenue (£m)	EBITDA (£m)	PBT (£m)	EPS (p)	DPS (p)	P/E (x)	Yield (%)

Note: EBITDA, PBT and EPS (diluted) are normalised, excluding amortisation of acquired intangibles, exceptional items and share-based payments.

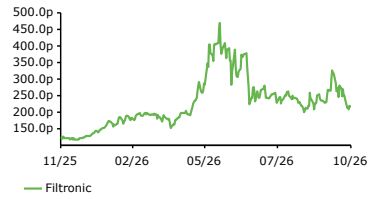

The AGM trading update highlighted the recent progress the company has made in three areas: capitalising on the growing space market, strengthening its position in the defence sector and moving up the value chain to deliver higher value RF systems to a diversified customer base. This month, the company won its largest ever order from SpaceX, worth $68.1m, and since the start of FY27, has won two contracts worth a total of $16.0m for the design, development and manufacture of prototype units for satellite deployment for another US-based customer. Today, the company announced a $0.3m development contract to support a US satellite manufacturer operating GEO satellites in the Ka-band, which is expected to lead to production orders. This builds on the recent development of Filtronic's first 200W gallium nitride-based solid state power amplifier (SSPA) system designed for use in the medium Earth orbit (MEO) and GEO bands.

In defence, Filtronic secured three contracts worth £2.1m for next-generation airborne radar technology, alongside a £2m UK Defence Innovation grant to support the development of advanced chipset technology for ground-based and satellite applications.

As well as developing higher powered SSPAs, the company has also completed its first Digital Intermediate Frequency (Di-Fi) product, broadening its offering for next-generation communications systems.
