Investment Policy

The healthcare sector is global and accessing this market as a UK investor can be difficult. The Company offers an opportunity to gain exposure to pharmaceutical, biotechnology and related companies in the healthcare sector on a global scale. The Company invests in large companies with market capitalisations of over U.S.$10bn, smaller companies below that size, as well as unquoted companies. The portfolio ranges from large multi-national pharmaceutical companies with multiple products to unquoted emerging biotechnology companies. The Company's investment policy allows gearing, through borrowing, of up to 20% of net assets and a net exposure to derivative investments (excluding swaps) of up to 5% of the portfolio. Equity swaps may also be used, counterparty exposure here is limited to 12% of the portfolio at the time of acquisition. Unquoted securities will not exceed 10% of the portfolio at the time of acquisition.

Return vs Volatility (Annualised since Launch Date & appointment of Portfolio Manager) – Chart (%)

DISCOUNT/PREMIUM CONTROL

It is the Board's policy to buy back the Company's shares if the share price discount to the net asset value per share exceeds 6% on an ongoing basis. Shares repurchased are held as treasury shares. Treasury shares can be sold back to the market at a later date at a premium to the cum income net asset value per share. Shareholders should note, however, that it remains possible for the discount to be greater than 6% for extended periods of time, particularly when sentiment towards the Company, the sector and/or to investment trusts generally remains poor.

While buybacks may prove unable to prevent the discount from widening, they also enhance the net asset value per share for remaining shareholders and go some way to dampening discount volatility which can adversely affect investors' risk adjusted returns.

At times when there are unsatisfied buying orders for the Company's shares in the market, the Company has the ability to issue new shares or to re-issue treasury shares at a small premium to the cum income net asset value per share. This acts as an effective share price premium management tool.

Commentary

In December, the NAV per share total return was -3.4%, the share price total return was -4.6% and the MSCI World Health Care Index (Company's Benchmark) was -2.4%, on a net total return, sterling adjusted basis.

Global equity markets were largely flat in December. The U.S. Federal Reserve enacted its third interest rate cut of the year, by -25 basis points, bringing the target rate to 3.50%-3.75%. Otherwise, fundamental news was scant and a "Santa Claus Rally" did not materialize. Healthcare stocks underperformed in the month due to a mix of profit taking, modest news flow, a momentum shift (particularly in MedTech), and positioning ahead of the New Year. All benchmark healthcare sub-sectors declined in December, save for Pharmaceuticals (up di minimis).

Sources of positive absolute contribution were few. The largest contributor in the month was Structure Therapeutics, as investor enthusiasm for oral weight loss assets increased into year-end. The stock more than doubled after the company announced updated data for their lead pipeline asset that was very competitive, perhaps "best-in-class" for an oral small molecule.

The largest detractor in December was Boston Scientific, a mix of profit taking, momentum shift, and investor concern about share loss in the multi-billion dollar ablation business. Another detractor of import was Alnylam Pharmaceuticals. Share price weakness resulted from weaker than expected prescription volume metrics for their lead commercial asset, Amvuttra (vutrisiran), a medicine to treat a specific form of heart disease. On a sub-sector level, negative excess return of note come from Medical Technology, Emerging Markets, and Pharmaceuticals.

Despite the market lethargy of December, we enter 2026 with a very bullish outlook for healthcare. The resolution of any drug pricing overhang in the U.S. has been perhaps the largest catalyst in the healthcare space in over a decade. M&A in biotechnology continues to inflect to start January. Additional interest rate cuts are on the horizon. Innovation remains at all time highs. The set-up to start the year bodes well with the composition of the portfolio.
